W. Blair.

The following Addreſs of the States of the Iſland of Jerſey, having been tranſmitted by Lieutenant General Huſke, Governor of that Iſland, to the Right Honourable Mr. Secretary Pitt, has by him been preſented to His Majeſty: Which Addreſs His Majeſty was pleaſed to receive very graciouſly.

To the King's moſt Excellent Majeſty,

The dutiful Addreſs of the States of the Iſland of Jerſey.

Moſt Gracious Sovereign,

THE duteous and numerous Addreſſes, already preſented to your Majeſty, from different Parts of your Kingdoms, to congratulate the Succeſs of your Royal Fleets and Armies, (a Succeſs not more marvellous from Circumſtances, than merited from Juſtice) have left us no new Expreſſions, to beg your Majeſty's gracious Acceptance of our warmeſt and moſt ſincere Congratulations on theſe glorious Events.

But, far from repining on that Account, it is an additional Happineſs to your moſt dutiful and faithful Subjects here, that the glowing Affection, which has ſo long diſtinguiſhed them, ſhould no longer remain the Characteriſtic of that Part of your Majeſty's Subjects, but equally animate and actuate all the reſt.

Whilſt we moſt humbly intreat your Majeſty's Acceptance of our Declarations of Joy, on the late important Events, in common with thoſe of our Fellow Subjects: We further moſt humbly beg your moſt gracious Indulgence to pour at your Royal Feet, the overflowing Gratitude of our Hearts, for the bountiful Marks of your Paternal Care, in ordering ſuch conſiderable Fortifications for the Defence of this Iſland, and that your Majeſty will be pleaſed to believe, that the Fear of the moſt Tyrannic Yoke we could fall under, cannot animate us more in our Defence, than the dutiful Love to our preſent moſt Auguſt Sovereign.

That Heaven may ſtill long vouchſafe to us the Bleſſing of your benign Reign, and that your Majeſty may tranſmit to your Poſterity, your Virtues with your Dominions, will always be the moſt fervent Prayer of your zealous and grateful Subjects of Jerſey, as it ſhall be our greateſt Care, to tranſmit to our Poſterity, the dutiful Attachment to your Majeſty's Government, and that moſt reſpectful Affection, to your Sacred Perſon and Royal Family, which have ſo long been equally our Pride and our Pleaſure.

Iſland of Jerſey, Nov. 9, 1759.

The following Addreſs of the Mayor, Aldermen, Bayliffs, and Citizens of the City of Carliſle, has been preſented to His Majeſty by Sir Charles Howard, one of their Repreſentatives in Parliament, Which Addreſs His Majeſty was pleaſed to receive very graciouſly.

To the King's moſt Excellent Majeſty,

The humble Addreſs of the Mayor, Aldermen, Bayliffs, and Citizens of the City of Carliſle, in Council aſſembled.

Moſt gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majeſty's dutiful and loyal Subjects, glad of any Opportunity to teſtify our Zeal and Attachment to your Majeſty's Royal Perſon and Government, beg Leave to offer to your Majeſty our ſincere Congratulations, on the glorious Succeſſes of your Majeſty's Forces by Sea and Land.

The Variety and Importance of thoſe Succeſſes, in ſo many different Parts of the Globe, cannot fail to convince your Majeſty's Enemies, that your Majeſty, ſupported by the Wiſdom and Lenity of your Government, poſſeſſed of the Affections of your People, aſſiſted by a vigilant and able Miniſtry, and defended by the Bravery of your Fleets and Armies, will be enabled to carry on with Vigour, the juſt and neceſſary War in which you are engaged, till ſuch Time as the Peace of your Kingdoms, and the Tranquillity of Europe, can be ſettled on a ſolid and laſting Foundation. Permit us, Sir, particularly to congratulate your Majeſty on the Defeat of the French Army in Canada, and the Reduction of their capital City of Quebec: A Victory obtained by an inferior Number of Forces, againſt a ſuperior Army of the Enemy, poſſeſſed of every Advantage of Situation, muſt give the World the higheſt Opinion, of the Conduct of the Officers who concerted, and of the Intrepidity of the Troops that executed, ſo glorious an Enterprize. And the Joy of your faithful Subjects on this Occaſion, could have received no Allay, but by the untimely, though glorious Death of that gallant General, who greatly periſhed in his Country's Cauſe.

Given under our common Seal at the City of Carliſle the Twenty-firſt Day of November, in the Year of our Lord One Thouſand Seven Hundred and Fifty-nine.

The following Addreſs of the Bailiffs, Burgeſſes, and Commonalty of the Town of Ipſwich in Great Court aſſembled, has been preſented to His Majeſty by Thomas Staunton and George Montgomerie Eſqrs. their Repreſentatives in Parliament: Which Addreſs His Majeſty was pleaſed to receive very graciouſly.

To the King's moſt Excellent Majeſty,

The humble Addreſs of the Bailiffs, Burgeſſes, and Commonalty of the Town of Ipſwich in Great Court aſſembled.

AMidſt the univerſal Acclamations of a grateful People, may it pleaſe your moſt excellent Majeſty to accept the late, but not leſs ſincere Congratulations of us your moſt faithful and loyal Subjects, on the late glorious Succeſs which hath attended your Majeſty's Arms in every Quarter of the Globe.

Ganges and the Indus may proclaim to Aſia the Superiority of your Majeſty's Fleets in their neighbouring Seas: The Iſles and ſultry Coaſts of Africa have been taught Obedience to the Britiſh Flag: The Victory over the French Fleet off Cape Lagos; and more particularly the moſt gallant Behaviour of the famous Six Britiſh Regiments on the Plains of Minden, hath demonſtrated to all Europe, how much may be expected from Britiſh Valour, when properly conducted: And the Conqueſt of Guadaloupe with the adjacent Iſlands in the Weſt Indies; the taking of the many French Forts on the Continent of America; and, above all, the glorious Conqueſt of Quebec, muſt convince the World, that, (Providence permitting) neither the Strength of Nature, nor the Contrivance of Skill and Arts, though defended by a double or triple Superiority of Numbers, can protect your Enemies from the unanimous Efforts of your Majeſty's Fleets and Armies, even in conjunct Expeditions.

We adore the ſupreme Diſpoſer of all Events, who hath ſo ſignally, and in ſo ſhort a Time, enabled your Majeſty not only to recover the Glory of the Britiſh Name, but even to exalt it higher than hath been known throughout the Annals of former Ages: On this Occaſion our Joy might poſſibly have been too exceſſive, were it not, perhaps providentially, checked by the Loſs of that truly valuable Man, who commanded at Quebec, and for whoſe untimely Fall every generous Breaſt muſt ſigh. Such a Series of Succeſs cannot fail of reflecting Honour on your Majeſty's Councils in general, and eſpecially upon that eminent Stateſman, on whom, in your Wiſdom, your Majeſty has been pleaſed to repoſe your Royal Confidence.

We beg Leave gratefully to expreſs the due Senſe we have of your Majeſty's Goodneſs, in ſo graciouſly diſtinguiſhing ſuch gallant Men as have deſerved well of their Country, by Marks of your Royal Favour. By this Means, and by wiſely diſcountenancing thoſe Few who have failed of their Duty, your Majeſty muſt excite the Ambition of every brave Man; Numbers of whom are now ardently wiſhing for Opportunities of exerting themſelves in their Country's Cauſe. Whilſt we, convinced of your Majeſty's paternal Care of your People, and fully ſenſible of the many Bleſſings we ſecurely enjoy under your Royal Protection, do not ceaſe to pray, that your Majeſty's precious Life may be continued to us, and that you may ſee your Dominions effectually ſecured from the Ravages and Incroachments of a rapacious and inſatiable Enemy, and this juſt and neceſſary War happily concluded, by a laſting and an honourable Peace.

Given under our common Seal, by Order of Great Court, November the 20th, 1759.

Admiralty-Office, November 29.
